

VISION SPORT

YOUR WEEKEND OF SPORT ALL YOUR LOCAL SPORTS FIXTURES IN NEW VISION

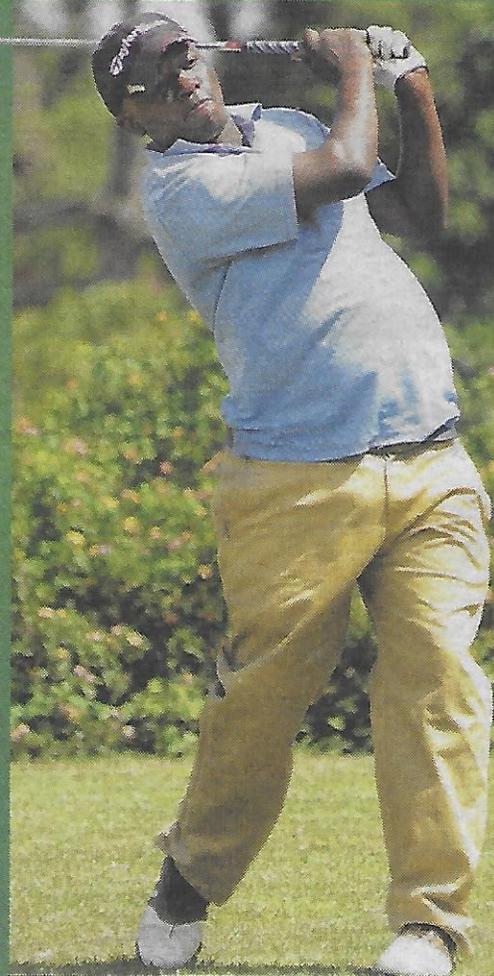

STORY
ON PG
43

STROKES

PHOTO BY MICHAEL NSUBUGA

to participate
think I have to
it," Karichu
L. as putting very well and
any birdies on the par-t's only on No. 11 where I to the bush, so I hope to ain this lead," chu is no stranger to the
be course having played for Kenya in the East Afri-
challenge and the Victoria ncounters against Uganda.

l fight to the end
Despite giving away six s, two-time champion d Otile is not about to der without a fight and sed to rectify his mistakes third round.
day was a bit tough
se I missed a lot of pars par-3's; out of the six I only one par which gave e-over on all of them. I'm ing to try to rectify where e mistakes; I wasn't on ens on regulation, I was over, that is where the e was," Otile noted.
orrow I will need to be tent with my scores and o my routine. I wasn't just itted to my shots but I will t tomorrow (today)," Otile

Kenya's John Karichu tees off on day-two

Netball and sharing

Ottaway (right) shares food with netball spectators

By James Bakama

Today
8am - Sri Lanka v USA
10am - Singapore v Zim
12pm - S. Africa v Uganda
6pm - Final

It is now clear defending champions South Africa will face Uganda in the World University Netball Championship final.

The two giants will first complete a round robin with a match between themselves before the final. The two nations have blown everything in their path before the final at Makerere University's new indoor arena.

England won the inaugural edition in 2012 before Africa's top netball side South Africa winning the next edition in USA in 2016. Senior She Cranes centre Ruth Meeme says that South Africa has a solid side. "They are very quick, accurate, intelligent, space out very well besides having a very good defence."

She however notes that they can be beaten by the hosts. "All Uganda needs is to play as a unit. They have to support the ball, avoid long passes and also mark tight."

Goal attacker Irene Eyaru and goal shooter have the task of converting all the chances that come their way.

Meanwhile, USA who have exhibited remarkable improvement after every game, finally pulled off their first tournament win yesterday.

They beat Singapore 41-38 after four consecutive losses.

Away from their short comings on court, USA have had a huge impact elsewhere.

They have spirited backing of Mbuya slum youths from Mbuya in the stands. With a KFC pack and a Coke each, the youths wildly cheered USA. The Americans started off their trip to Uganda on Saturday with a friendly against the youth in Mbuya.

"We want to reach out to the less privileged. It is important for my girls to realise that they have to give back to society," explained Ottaway.